Award-Winning Performer Jamie Foxx Hits the Summer Stage Concert Series Stage on May 28

Brooks, Calif. – Jamie Foxx is often described as a triple threat for his versatility as an actor, musician and comedian. See Foxx during Memorial Day Weekend in the brand new outdoor Summer Stage Concert Series at Cache Creek Casino Resort on Saturday, May 28.

Foxx first came to fame as a comedian, getting his start in showbiz in 1989 when he tried his hand at standup on a dare at an open-mic night. After realizing that women who signed up for open-mic nights were always selected, he used different unisex names with hopes of getting more stage time. After bringing down the house as Jamie Foxx, his real name (Eric Bishop) was relegated to the past. Later, he joined Keenan Ivory Wayans, Jim Carrey, Damon Wayans and Tommy Davidson in the landmark Fox sketch comedy series “In Living Color,” creating some of the show’s funniest and most memorable moments.

In 1996, he launched his own series, “The Jamie Foxx Show,” which was one of the top-rated programs on the WB Network during its five-year run. Foxx not only starred on the series but was also the co-creator, executive producer, and director of several episodes. He received critical acclaim for his riveting work in “Any Given Sunday” and as “Bundini Brown” in the film “Ali.” These dramatic breakout roles led to 2004, the “Year of the Foxx,” when he delivered a trio of powerful performances in “Ray,” “Collateral” and “Redemption.”

Foxx won an Academy Award for Best Actor for his portrayal of the legendary Ray Charles as well as the Golden Globe, Screen Actors Guild (SAG), BAFTA and NAACP Image Awards, and a host of nominations and awards for his portrayal of condemned gang member-turned-Nobel Peace Prize nominee Stan “Tookie” Williams in the television movie “Redemption.” That amazing feat marked the first time that a single actor has received three Golden Globe nominations and four SAG Award nominations in the same year. Some of his other films include: “Dreamgirls,” “Miami Vice,” “Jarhead,” “The Kingdom,” “The Soloist,” “Law Abiding Citizen,” and “Valentine’s Day.”

Foxx has also achieved a thriving career in music. His debut, “Unpredictable,” released in 2005 was nominated for three Grammy Awards, eight Billboard Music Awards, one Soul Train Music Award and two American Music Awards, for which he won Favorite Male Artist. Foxx received three Grammy nominations, including Best R&B Album for his Platinum-selling “Intuition,” which debuted at No. 3 on the Billboard 200 chart in 2008. In 2010, Foxx won a Grammy for his record breaking smash hit “Blame It” featuring T-Pain in the category of Best R&B performance by a duo/group with vocals at the 52nd Annual Grammy Awards. “Blame It”, the second single from “Intuition”, broke records including holding the No. 1 position for 12 consecutive weeks on the Urban Mainstream Chart.
